El placer de leer!!

"A Margarita Debayle" is considered one of the greatest and most beautiful poems in all of Spanish literature. It was written by the Nicaraguan poet Ruben Dario in 1908.

A Margarita

A beautiful adaptation of Ruben Dario's "A Margarita Debayle," this magnificently and richly illustrated children's book takes the reader to a magical place where fantasy, curiosity, and love abound. Girls and boys will be captivated by the beautiful story of a mischievous little princess who steals a star from the heavens. At the same time, adults will delight in the childhood memories conjured up in this exquisite classic Latin American poem. Created by natives of Chinandega, Nicaragua, this adaptation and accompanying illustrations perfectly capture the poem's subtle intricacies and Corinto Bay and Cardon Island, where Ruben Dario wrote the sonorous verses surely inspired by the sea breezes, the volcanoes, and the nights full of stars. A perfect bedtime story and ideal for parents wishing to instill in their children an appreciation for Latin American literature and the rich Spanish language.
